Labor "Protection" Law Offered

Bonn Chief Issues Offer To Russians

Adenauer Asserts He Will Consider Buffer Zone Plan

Adenauer said he would be willing to consider a demilitarized zone in Central Europe if the Russians would agree to "reunification of Germany in freedom."

In a 4,000-word message, Adenauer said he wanted to reassure the Russians his government is willing to accept any legitimate Soviet proposal that would guarantee a free, reunited Germany.

He made it clear that he was willing to make some concessions, saying: "If the Soviet government seriously fears the revival of German militarism it is free to demand, together with the reunification of Germany, effective guarantees of its (Russia's) security."

Adenauer again rejected the Soviet proposal that he negotiate German reunification with the Communist East German government. The 17 million East Germans, Adenauer said, are not free to make any decisions for themselves. They are, he added, under "the domination of Communist functionaries, who are falsely called the working class."

The note was handed to the Soviet government in Moscow Friday. It was the third exchange between the two governments in 24 hours and was in reply to a Soviet message sent last October.

Adenauer in the past has firmly opposed a neutral Germany but has said he would agree to keeping all weapons out of what is now East Germany if the nation is reunited.

He appeared to take a cautious step further in today's message. Adenauer pointed out that the Russians, in their October message, had said they would view "interest...the setting up of a demilitarized zone in Europe between East and West," and at the same time asked Bonn if it would sign an agreement renouncing the use of force.

He called for reunification. "The ideas mentioned in these statements," Adenauer replied, "could be important elements in a security system which could guarantee reunification to Germany and peace and freedom to all European states and also to reunified Germany."

Bonn, he added, "has no hesitation about linking an agreement on the reunification of Germany with contractual obligations reaffirming the reunification of the use of force."

Deale Paraders Felled By Heat

DEALE, Md. (AP)—More than 30 persons collapsed yesterday while marching in a Memorial Day parade in sweltering heat.

Several spectators also collapsed. All those affected were revived with rest, smelling salts and ice packs.

Four ambulances of the Bethesda-Chevy Chase rescue squad and the 7th and 2nd Districts of the Anne Arundel Fire Department helped treat the victims.

"They were dropping like flies right after they passed the reviewing stands," said Dr. Harry N. Jones, who treated most of the victims.

"It must have been close to 100 degrees in the sun," Dr. Jones added.

Rooney Signs Contract To Star On CBS-TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Rooney has signed a five-year television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The network said yesterday it plans to star the actor in a "number" of 90-minute shows and have him make a return appearance in the Playhouse 90 series. A weekly show of his own is also planned.

White Men Go On Trial In Anti-Negro Terrorism

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Trial of two young white men charged with dynamiting Negro churches in a wave of terrorism last January opens today in Circuit Court.

Police said the bombings, part of a series of seven, and six shootings at city buses were intended to intimidate Negroes. They followed racial integration of city buses Dec. 21 on federal court order.

Raymond C. Britt Jr., 27, and Sonny Kyle Livingston Jr., 18, were indicted on charges that they carried maximum sentences of 10 years' imprisonment each.

Trial Of Dio Postponed In Federal Court

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal government today postponed trial of John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi and three others in the acid-blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel because key witnesses refused to testify.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams, in asking that the case be removed from the trial calendar in federal district court, said this "does not close the book." He said immediately trial "would be inviting an acquittal."

Williams told the court that the witnesses' refusal to talk "reflects the power of the underworld world."

"May I say that it may be gangster ethics but it is not the kind of ethics the Department of Justice will tolerate," Williams told Judge William B. Herlihy.

Dio sat in the courtroom, occasionally smiling slightly.

The two key witnesses, Gondolo Miranti and Domenico Bando, previously convicted in one phase of the case, were given additional sentences for contempt in refusing to answer questions before a federal grand jury.

"The government has now done all it can under the law to compel these witnesses to testify," Williams told the court.

"Without belaboring the point, I leave it to the court to suppose what forces have compelled us to follow this desperate course."

"I will continue to press vigorously my investigation of why these witnesses have refused to testify. Their actions reflect the power of the underworld."

Benny Has Fun Watching Self On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven-year-old Benny Hooper Jr. appeared on a national television show last night and got a big kick out of watching himself on an offstage monitor set.

The youngster seemed completely recovered from his 23-hour ordeal at the bottom of a well at Manorville, N. Y., May 15-17.

Benny was interviewed on Steve Allen's NBC-TV show. The boy could scarcely pay attention to Allen after discovering the monitor screen.

After that, viewers at home saw Benny nuzzling at Benny.

Stassen Set To Air Arms Cut Proposal

LONDON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen arrived in London today with new American proposals for a disarmament plan with Soviet Russia.

President Eisenhower's special disarmament representative flew into London Airport only a few hours before the five-nation U. N. Disarmament subcommittee was to resume discussions and told reporters he would negotiate "carefully and cautiously" with Soviet representatives at the London talks.

He said his general aim was to reverse the "competitive arms buildup" in the world. The American plan, he said, was aimed at "small, measured steps" of arms reduction instead of a sweeping agreement covering all weapons.

He cautioned against expecting fast results from the talks, pointing out that the problems involved are "too important and too complex" for quick decisions.

Writer, Children Rescued In Cave

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—A science writer and three youngsters lost in a cave yesterday were found today. They emerged from the experience a little hungry and unharmed.

John Pfeiffer, 42, took his son, Tony, 11, and two of the lad's companions, on an outing yesterday to explore caves in this eastern Pennsylvania area.

The party entered a commercial cavern known as Carpenter's Cave, located at Hanbysville, five miles south of Easton. They became lost and Pfeiffer's wife reported the party missing last night.

State police, aided by volunteers and cave exploration experts, searched the cave today. One member of the search party contacted the group by shouting.

Raging Rivers Ravage States In Southwest

DALLAS (AP)—Torrential downpours lashed parts of weather-beaten Texas yesterday and thousands of persons in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas fled overflowing rivers.

The entire population of Moffett, Okla., some 400 persons, were evacuated into adjacent Fort Smith, Ark., when a foot of water from the Arkansas River washed into the town. Moffett was unprotected by levees.

In Texas, the rampaging Trinity River surged three feet above the 38-foot major flood stage at Dallas, but began falling last night. Police estimated some 2,500 persons were evacuated from low-lying areas. Another 4,000 persons evacuated flooded areas of Fort Worth over the weekend.

Some flood-weary residents in Dallas planned to move after seeing their homes inundated for the third time this spring.

"I'm moving out," said Mayce Ross, 34. "I haven't thought about where, but I'm getting tired of being flooded."

Ross was one of hundreds of persons being cared for at disaster stations in Dallas and Fort Worth.

In Oklahoma, the level of Lake Texoma neared the spillway stage at Denison Dam. Residents and industries downstream were evacuating in anticipation of an overflow of the spillway tonight.

State police, aided by volunteers and cave exploration experts, searched the cave today. One member of the search party contacted the group by shouting.

Martin Urges GOP Fight Defense Cuts

House Group Would Avert Severe Slash

Johnson Contends Ike Fund Request Not 'Untouchable'

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican leaders mapped a last-minute campaign today to restore a portion of the 2½ billion dollars the House Appropriations Committee cut from next year's defense funds.

Rep. Martin (Mass), the GOP leader, summoned members of his party's Policy Committee to determine how much of the money they would fight to restore.

The House today tackled details of the $33,541,225,000 measure—$2,528,775,000 less than President Eisenhower had asked.

Says Cuts "Shocking"
Sentiment expressed during the first day of debate Friday had indicated the House would make few, if any, changes in the allotments recommended by its Appropriations Committee.

But Martin said he wanted the Policy Committee to know "the full extent of the damage" he said would be done by what he called "shocking" cuts in the budget figures.

He said he expected proposal of amendments on the House floor aimed at "restoring a good portion" of the committee's cuts.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he does not consider Eisenhower's defense request as "sacred and untouchable."

He did not say how much he favors for defense but commented that "no budget recommendation is sacred. Congress must still apply its judgment as to the size of the recommendations."

Sees Future Problems
Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert A. Quarles said even the $1,300,000,000 of House committee cuts accepted by the Pentagon will "create problems in future years," Eisenhower had described that amount of the cut as a book-keeping move.

Quarles said in a television interview that to stick to the other $1,200,000,000 of the cuts would be "positively unwise." That is the part Eisenhower had told his news conference would "cut directly in defense," especially buying of aircraft and guided missiles.

Safety Council Asks Caution By Holiday Drivers

CHICAGO (AP)—An estimated 120 Americans will die in traffic accidents Memorial Day, says the National Safety Council.

The council's estimate is for the 30-hour holiday period from 5 p.m. Wednesday until midnight Thursday.

"Unless the extra dangers of holiday traffic are met with extra care and caution, we estimate that 120 persons will be killed on the highways in the holiday period," the council said.

"This compares with an immediate death toll of 75 for a non-holiday Thursday at this time of the year."

Police Round Up Taipei Rioters

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek directed police today to intensify a hunt for agitators who stirred up violent anti-American demonstrations in Taipei Friday.

More than 200 rioters were reported already under police detention, but presumably the ring-leaders had not been apprehended.

Youth Charged In Girl Killing

High School Student Held In Sex Slaying

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—An 18-year-old youth who always carried a Bible in his pocket was charged with murder yesterday in the rape-slaying of pretty Ruth Starr Zeidler.

Fred Galda, first assistant Bergen County prosecutor, said Ronald Marrone, a Fair Lawn High School sophomore, had dictated what Galda called a confession to the lovers' lane strangulation of his 15-year-old classmate.

Galda quoted the youth as repeating "I'm making this statement to God. I'm telling this to God" as he held tightly to his Bible.

Marrone read the statement carefully and signed it late last night, Galda said. He is scheduled to appear at a preliminary hearing June 7.

The youth was among more than 40 persons questioned since Ruth's semiautomatic body was found in a wooded glen in Paramus last Thursday.

The girl, a pretty brunette, had left for afternoon classes at the high school May 17. She did not arrive for classes and never came home.

When her body was found, her white belt was knotted about her neck. Some of her clothing was rolled up in a ball nearby, and a wad of cleansing tissue was stuffed in her mouth.

An autopsy report said the girl had been raped.

Galda said Marrone had picked up in a car at 11:30 a. m. on the day of the murder, drove (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Hunt Pushed For Airman

CHICOPPEE, Mass. (AP)—A three-state search continued today for commercial pilot Dewey Fisher, 31, missing since last Thursday on a 300-mile trip from Lockhaven, Pa. to Norfolk, Va.

A spokesman for the 46th air rescue squadron, which is coordinating the search from Westover Air Force Base said yesterday, Civil Air Patrol units in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia have been alerted.

The Coast Guard also is aiding in the hunt for Dewey who left Lockhaven without filing a flight plan, officials said.

Fund Theft Curb Asked In New Act

Mitchell Presents Broad Proposals To Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration broadened its proposals for protection of labor welfare-pension funds today to cover all funds and to provide criminal penalties for stealing from them.

The broad new bill was presented to a Senate Labor subcommittee by Secretary of Labor Mitchell, who said in prepared testimony that findings of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, other congressional probes and his department's studies had brought the conclusion "that our original proposals may be improved and strengthened."

The new proposals went far toward meeting objections which Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) had raised in the former administration proposals in testimony prepared for the same hearing. Douglas is the author of another bill on the same subject.

Would Provide Penalties
Douglas' prepared testimony had said that while the framers of the original administration bill "have good intentions, the work of their hands is a toothless crippler."

Douglas' bill, like the new administration plan, would apply to both union and management-operated funds and would provide criminal penalties for misuse.

House hearings are also to start in a few days on similar legislation a major step aimed at curbing labor corruption. An estimated 75 million workers and members of their families are beneficiaries of these funds.

The new administration bill would provide for registration with the Labor Department, together with annual audits, on all such funds on which tax exemptions or deductions are allowed under the federal tax laws, as well as plans covering employees in any industry affecting interstate commerce.

The bill would provide for a maximum $5,000 fine and five-year prison term for anyone convicted of embezzling such funds or falsifying or destroying fund books or records.

The former administration bill had proposed that it be discretionary with the secretary of labor whether data filed with the government were to be made public. But under the new bill all such data would be published "under such regulations as the secretary may prescribe."

Contrary To N.A.M. Idea
The new bill says all plans should be covered and treated alike.

In this, Mitchell went contrary to the desires of the National Assn. of Manufacturers which has opposed filing government reports on management-run plans. Approximately 90 per cent of all welfare-pension plans for employees are management operated, many of them through banks and insurance companies.

Reich Leader Begins Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany begins formal talks with Secretary of State Dulles today to follow up his man-to-man conference yesterday with President Eisenhower.

World disarmament will probably figure as the main topic during his three-day stay.

Eisenhower and Dulles will want to assure Adenauer that his government's views will be fully taken into account in any East-West disarmament plan.

Probe Started In Crash That Claimed 11 Lives

BENSON, Ill. (AP)—Two cars carried four adults and seven children to their death Saturday and investigators studied the wreckage today to learn the cause of the fiery, high-speed crash.

Two families — one from Streator, Ill., the other from Bloomington, Ill. — were wiped out in the deadly pileup on Illinois Highway 110, about a mile west of Benson in north central Illinois.

State police said evidence indicated both cars were traveling in the same easterly direction on the straight, two-lane paved highway. There were no survivors and no witnesses to the crash.

Investigators also considered the possibility that a third car may have been involved, forcing the cars off the highway in an attempt to pass.

One car slammed into a tree and burst into flames, trapping a couple and their four children inside. The other car careened into a pole, killing its occupants — a couple and their three children.

Trapped and killed in the car that burned were: James Block, 27, Streator; his wife Vernie Mae, 24; and their children, Peggy, 4, Gloria, 3, Deborah, 2, and Jimmie, 3 months.

Occupants of the other car were: Dr. George C. von Steenberg, 37, a Bloomington, Ill., dentist; his wife Helen Nancy, 33; and their children, George Dennis, 11, Janice, 4, and Julie, 2.

Hungary Reds Demand U. S. Staff Sliced

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungary's Communist regime says 13 members of the U. S. legation in Budapest — more than a third of the staff — must leave within six weeks.

The order was sent to Charge d'Affaires N. Spencer Barnes.

American Diplomats had not attended any official Hungarian functions in six months — since Russian troops intervened in last fall's rebellion.

The U. S. legation was singled out, although other Western diplomatic missions have also boycotted Hungarian government affairs.

One reason may be that the U. S. mission is the largest in Budapest of any country except Russia. The U. S. staff includes 21 foreign service officers and 13 non-diplomatic personnel such as legation guards. Nine diplomats and four non-diplomats will have to leave.

SHREWSBURY, N. J. (AP)—Teddy Stauffer of Acapulco, Mexico, former husband of movie actress Hedy Lamarr and Faith Domergue, married Ute Weller of Hamburg, Germany, yesterday.

It was the fifth marriage for Stauffer, part owner of the Hotel Villa Vera in Acapulco. The bride is in charge of Pan American Airways' airline hostesses in Germany.

Movie actor Errol Flynn served as best man at the wedding, which was performed by Mayor J. Lester Rigby of New Shrewsbury at the estate of Alfred J. Lippman here.

ABC Issues Retraction For Cohen's Statements

NEW YORK (AP)—TV interviewer Mike Wallace and the ABC network retracted statements that ex-gangster Mickey Cohen recently tossed at the Los Angeles police chief and others.

The gangster turned florist appeared on the Mike Wallace interview May 19.

Last night Oliver Treyz, vice president in charge of ABC's television programs, went on the Wallace show and said the Cohen appearance created "something most unfortunate, unexpected and profoundly regrettable."

He said that because of the spontaneous nature of the show, the network has no "advance knowledge of what actually will be said during the program."

"Leonard Goldenson, our president," continued Treyz, "joins me most earnestly in stating that the American Broadcasting Co. retraction withdraws in full all statements made . . . concerning the Los Angeles city government and specifically Police Chief William H. Parker, Capt. James Hamilton of the department intelligence squad, former Mayor Fletcher Bowron and former Police Chief Clarence B. Horrall."

Wallace followed Treyz and said he "sincerely" joined in the statement.

Treyz said Cohen's remarks "in no way represented" the network's attitudes or beliefs. He said ABC "deeply regrets the wholly unjustified statements" made by Cohen.

The network said the program sponsor also joined in the retraction statement.

But Cohen scornfully spurned the retraction.

"Any retractions made by those spineless persons in regard to the television show I appeared on with Mike Wallace on ABC network does not go for me," said Cohen.

Keating Backs Bill To Give President Item Veto Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) said today enactment of legislation to give a president the item veto power would be "the single most constructive procedural blow" Congress could strike for government economy.

Keating, author of a proposed constitutional amendment to grant such power, told a House Judiciary subcommittee in prepared testimony that "failure of Congress to act is costing Americans taxpayers billions of dollars."

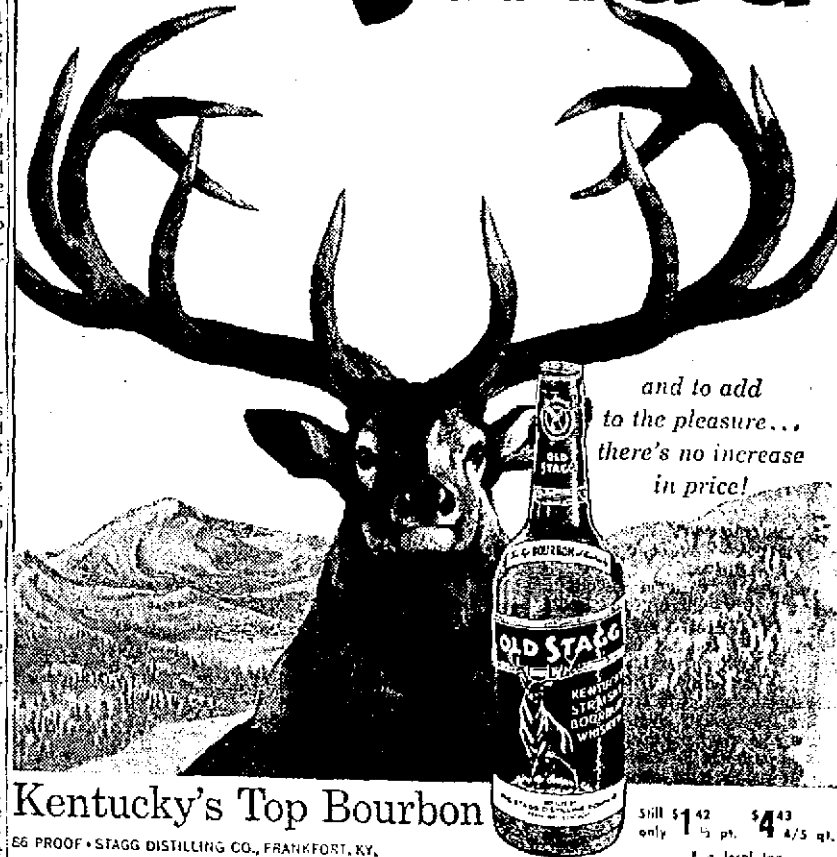

Lined up to present the Eisenhower administration's case for the proposal were Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Percival F. Brundage.

In advance of the hearing, the subcommittee chairman, Willis D. (D-La.) said in an interview he approaching the matter "with a completely open mind." Some other members of Congress—including Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California—are outspoken against the item veto.

Like many presidents before him, Eisenhower wants authority to veto selected items without having to reject an entire appropriations bill.

One phone call brought me $45 from a man I didn't know

My business is painting houses. I paint them inside and out. Like all painters, my income literally depends on having one job lined up after another. Usually I do, too.

Last Friday when I got home, my wife handed me a letter cancelling my next job. I was pretty glum, and so was she. We needed the money for some bills that were due.

About nine o'clock that evening the phone rang. It was a man I didn't even know. He wanted me to do some painting in his apartment over the week end. Well, that job brought me $45, enough to carry me until I got another job lined up.

I got to thinking. I wouldn't have had the work at all without my telephone. Matter of fact, the $45 would pay my phone bill for months. Guess my phone not only pays for itself, it saves our family all kinds of time just about every day of the year.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Fuel Outlook

A COUPLE OF decades ago, when the nation's population was far smaller, some of our experts used to worry a good deal about America's future fuel supply. Warnings were tossed out that we might run short before too many years had passed. But here we are with 170 million people in 1957 and the scientists are telling us that we have abundant supplies of fuel beneath the earth. In a new look at these resources, the New York Times notes that U. S. geologists say we have enough coal, oil, gas and related reserves to meet the country's needs at an ever-expanding rate for the next 1,000 years. Since coal is, practically speaking, still our greatest source of fuel, the specialists have labored hard in recent years to keep it competitive with oil and gas which have been in rising use.

COAL'S ECONOMIC difficulties stem largely from the inherent costs of digging out and transporting to market so bulky a product. Today most U. S. shaft mines are highly mechanized, and output per miner is 17 tons a day, against 1 1/4 tons for a British miner. Open pit or strip mines employ huge mechanical shovels. More and more coal moves today by cheap waterway, and there is even a pipeline to carry it in semi-liquid form. In some cases, the market—factory or power plant—is moving close to the coal field. And coal users are finding cheaper and more efficient ways of burning this fuel. The oil industry has had a magnificent expansion, with countless chemical by-products being developed steadily. Oil's big problem is the high cost of exploring new sources. New supplies at shallow depth are harder to locate, and the quest leads now to deeper levels. The industry is spending seven billion dollars a year for this work in America alone.

THE GEOLOGISTS are confident, however, that in addition to known reserves there are vast, deep-laid supplies still untapped, which could be developed at a rate more than equal to the nation's rising consumption. For more distant development are tremendous stocks of oil shale and lignite, the low-grade coal. Much experimenting still is needed to convert these materials into usable form at competitive cost. But they represent a huge insurance policy against any future fuel shortage in the United States, no matter what its size after another 20 centuries have passed. And then there are such new wrinkles at atomic and solar energy, still experimental and commercially non-competitive, but sure to enter the field one day. The "sear story" writers won't find the fuel picture one they can do much with for a long, long time to come.

Miracle On Long Island

REMEMBERING the tragedy of the little California girl, Kathy Fiscus, who tumbled into a well and lost her life, solicitous Americans were none too hopeful as rescuers strove frantically on Long Island to save little Benny Hooper. The afternoon following his fall into the 21-foot shaft, newspapers said in heavy black type that hope was virtually gone. The seven-year-old lad was presumed dead, trapped at the bottom of a sandy well. But he wasn't. When feverish yet careful workers reached him some 24 hours after the mishap occurred, they found Benny miraculously alive. Doctors guessed a peculiar combination of circumstances had preserved his life. An oxygen tube dropped down the well landed close to his nose. By accident (falling asleep) or good sense not looked for in so young a boy, he did not waste strength in talking or stirring about. Chill hands may have helped induce sleep. Sand piling up did not press on his chest to suffocate him. All the nation rejoices at the happy circumstances that brought Benny from the well alive, and heaps praise on the patient, diligent rescuers who declined to give up even when all seemed lost.

THESE DAYS when you see a young fellow all dressed up in a suit and necktie he's probably on his way to his job as a mechanic. If you see a youth in overall pants and a T-shirt he's undoubtedly off to a date with his high school sweetheart.

Life Can Be Too Sweet For Poor Columnist

NEW YORK — One of the two drawbacks to being a daily columnist (the other is you have to sit down and write) is the fact you are always expected to be disturbed about something.

Bank clerks and department store buyers conceivably can wake up in the morning feeling bland as an unsalted soft-boiled egg and get by with it.

If the air is not too fresh and the traffic not too heavy, it is quite possible that they can squish through an entire day without feeling angry, happy, hipped or gyped. In fact, employers of most people rather like a mild man around the water cooler occasionally.

NOT SO THE columnist. He should be "in tune with the times," and these are not times of coddled eggs and similar people.

To be tuneful, timewise, one should react more or less fiercely to the headlines on the front page, laugh raucously at the features in the second section, be intellectually suspicious of most best-sellers and every country but his own, turn properly skeptical at references to romance or religion, and get mad whenever possible to avoid inner hypertension.

If there is time left over in the disturbed day of Life's tumult, he can ponder the popular question, "Who was to blame for the miserable mess I am today — my mother or my father?"

FORTUNATELY, a few neurotics in this fast age rebel at the whole idea of being constantly troubled. I know a proof-reader for a publishing company, for instance, who can go through a whole day reading startling, lurid, thrilling copy and go home to dinner looking like Ed Wynn before the latter went chapekshy. He has revolted into a non-thinking state that is so blissful his wife is going through analysis to "temper down" to his level.

But most people cannot afford so carelessly to let down their fists or their wild enthusiasms. The thing is to arise for the fray, work up steam over the morning paper, charge vigorously to work prepared for fun or frenzy, and come home laden with enthusiasm or disgust so the little woman can get excited too.

AFTER ALL, because of the limited scope of her wanderings, the housewife has little enough to get wrought up about, and after a dull day of ennui, it is considered only cricket that she be granted a little vicarious glee or despair.

The same goes, of course, for the children. More and more progressive schools are putting psychiatric studies into the curriculum; modern parents give the youngster his homework.

At times, it may be hard to get rolling on the peevish and pleasures of the day.

YOU WAKE UP, say, and there's a soft wind blowing out of the south. Yesterday you got a raise, and your wife has been acting peculiarly sweet and intelligent for months. It is Saturday and there is nothing on the docket but a visit to the ball park to see your team. Its 10-and-0 pitcher is hurling. There is a clean shirt in the drawer and, for breakfast, pancakes.

The paper says that a physical checkup reports like in great shape; the oil workers strike is settled; hardly anybody was killed last night anywhere, and nobody under 40 — whom you knew personally — died of a heart attack. The honeyuckle is out, and so are the kids. Life appears sweet.

IN A CASE like this, the aggravated stomach and burning brain is slow to come by. It takes stern thought supervision and vivid imagination, a pinch of bitter memory and perhaps a hum-over of the Gilbert and Sullivan ditty, "Things are seldom what they seem" — one who is genuinely in tune with life can usually manage, somehow, to live (albeit louse) up his day.

So it is with columnist-writing. You wake up feeling fine. And now this . . .

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—The hazards of interviewing attractive, self-reliant young actresses can bring about formidable results — like going to see Stearn Hillstrom and ending up with a cigar in my face. It never figured — not really. But that is what happens when young women become vice presidents. I'm against young women becoming vice presidents.

STEARNS WAS a young actress in Hollywood. I say in Hollywood because there is a difference. On Broadway, to be an actress you have to act. In Hollywood, to be an actress you only have to have a starlet and a contract with a studio, however small — the studio, that is. The contract for these kids is habitually small, no matter what you read in the papers and magazines.

Anyway, Stearn came to New York the other day as a vice president of a cigar company and all I wanted to know was how a starlet, with one screen test to her name, became vice president of a cigar company? It sounded like a true American saga, no pun. America, it seems obvious, is still the land of opportunity. It is like a chorus girl becoming secretary and treasurer of Baldwin Locomotive. Real fascinating theme!

SO I WALKED into her ample suite and before I could get further than "Stearn, I want you to tell me . . ." she plopped a cigar into my mouth and said, "I'll tell you. Women dearly love men who smoke cigars. I have proved it by survey."

"Just a minute," I said, "I happen to be married to a woman who can't stand cigars or men who smoke them. One of those things. She'd as play tic-tac-toe with a rattlesnake as talk social chit-chat with a cigar smoker."

"Among eminent cigar smokers she has faced across a barrage of pungent smoke are Alfred Hitchcock, Joseph Cotten, Milton Berle and Elicu P. T. Pandoras. The latter, a man who was born with a cigar in his mouth. Nor does this roster include 19 Hollywood agents and 16 Broadway agents, all of whom clench themselves onto cigars like small alligators on unwary rabbits."

"THAT'S THE point!" cried Stearn. "The exact point! Women do not object to cigar smoking as such. They object

Solon Loses His Soft Bed

WASHINGTON — What we're going to do about resting the poor, weary head of Representative Roy W. Wier, I do not know. His fellow lawmakers didn't show much sympathy.

I watched 'em pass the $78,370,285 legislative appropriation bill, providing money for their own operations and, incidentally, taking away from Wier his own soft bed.

He pleaded with 'em. He said if they insisted on going ahead with their multimillion-dollar program of giving each lawgiver a three-room suite, he'd be out of luck because this enterprise involves taking over the Congressional Hotel.

THIS IS A handsome structure across the street from the new House Office Building. The gentleman from Minneapolis has lived there for eight comfortable years, or ever since he's been in Congress.

He said he couldn't see how Congress could justify buying a hotel that cost $10,000,000 only to years ago. Nor did he see any good reason for building a third office building and rejiggering the insides of the two office structures already standing so that each representative could have three rooms.

"I have had plenty of room in my two offices," he said. "May I suggest that if you are going to give all of us three rooms, would the committee provide me with a sleeping room in that third room where your receptionist is supposed to sit in her lonesomeness?"

REP. ROONEY ignored the bedlessness of Wier; he said merely that the Congress wasn't law-breakers and disturbers of the peace should go scot free or be given the equivalent of a pat on the wrist. Nor can one deny that organized recreation programs do help to some extent. But the reasons for misbehavior by young people are many, and they go deep.

For youngsters as well as adults, punishment to fit the crime is a healthy deterrent to further crime. And recreation programs may tend to keep young people from roving about looking for trouble. However, these approaches deal only with the surface manifestations; they do not get at the individual and social causes which lie beneath the surface.

Before society can deal adequately with juvenile misbehavior and crime, much more must be known about the causes, and about ways in which these causes can be eliminated. This is the most promising point of attack on the whole broad problem of teen-age delinquency. This is not to say that young to the personal behavior of cigar smokers.

"What mars their fastidious calm are chewing on cigars, keeping a cigar in the mouth while talking, smoking in confined quarters, like elevators, using tiny ash trays which soon overflow or leaving dead cigar ends about the house to fume up the premises.

"If men did none of these things, women would adore all cigar smokers. I have proof. Personal surveys."

WELL, NOW, this Hillstrom is a mighty good looking girl and I never argue statistics, weather or surveys with good looking dames. Never. For one thing, good looking dames have a firm jaw. All of them. And it's useless to debate.

"Would any woman turn a cold shoulder on Rex Harrison?" she went on. "I doubt it. Or Ernie Kovacs, Groucho Marx or George Burns? All charming, alluring men, on or off stage, screen or TV. They smoke cigars with class and brio, with elegance and charm. If all cigar-smoking men did the same, the war between the sexes would stop forthwith. Believe me."

I believed her. She has eyes that could tame a cobra.

"SO HOW'S YOUR acting these days?" I said, trying to veer the subject into more relaxed areas.

"So who acts?" she said. "I am a vice president of a cigar company." She named the company, which is more than I am going to do, with evident and vast relief to editors and advertising managers.

"So how's vice-presidenting?" I went on.

"Wonderful, challenging and inspiring," she said. That's probably not the answer Dick Nixon would give if asked the same question, but it was Hillstrom's.

Did any one thing bother her about people's attitudes toward cigar smokers? Yes, she said, it did. So many dramatists and movie writers always show cigar smokers in shirt sleeves and talking gruffly. She said she wished elegantly tailored men were shown smoking cigars.

"If men only knew it, it's the world's most satisfying smoke," she said. "Much less nerve-racking than cigarettes. But men should learn, too, not to wallop cigars back and forth in their mouths like pogo sticks. Elegance does it."

Ma, I'm coming home with some cigars. But elegantly."

Hal Boyle

Reporter's Notebook

By ANDREW BOROWIEC For Hal Boyle

PARIS—The leading actress of the Polish film that won second prize in the recent Cannes Film Festival will be paid $12 a month on her return to Poland—if she is lucky.

Teresa Izweska, blonde pride of Poland's young film industry said bitterly she also will have to borrow money for a taxicab from the Warsaw Airport to the student dormitory where she lives.

She starred in "Kanal," story of a guerrilla unit trapped in a sewer during the Warsaw uprising of 1944, and was a sensational success in her first movie role.

"Yes, I am bitter and I want everybody to know it," said Miss Izweska in an interview at a reception in the Polish Embassy in Paris.

"Everybody tells me I am a great actress—that I have a great future. I smile at photographers and shake hands with thousands of people.

"But nobody knows that the government had to buy me a dress and a pair of shoes before I left Warsaw for Cannes—I could not have afforded to buy them myself."

MISS IZWESKA, 5 foot 7 and 22, said she could be quoted "on everything I say."

"They can't do anything to me. I am their pride, starving as I practically am."

She made this statement between sips of champagne and bites of the Polish "for export only" sausage at a lavish party given in her honor in the embassy, known for the best fare in Paris diplomatic circles.

Top personalities in the French movie world were invited. Many asked to pose for photographs with her.

"I wore this dress to practically every reception I've been to since I left Poland," she said. It is a white dress with a black print design. "I am ashamed of it, but you can write it anyway. Poland is a poor country and everybody knows it."

AS A FOURTH year student at the Warsaw Drama School, Miss Izweska said, she receives a scholarship of 300 zloty a month—or about $12 at the official exchange rate.

"I understand they want to take away that scholarship because I have gone abroad and they think I am making money," she said. "But the government paid me nothing, although they sold the film to many countries. If I don't get the scholarship, I will have to sell my ring to live."

She pointed to a small gold-and-diamond ring on her finger.

Her first trip abroad was "wonderful, too wonderful to explain," she said. "Everything here is just for people—not for the masses, like back home."

She added promptly she is not afraid to say anything "because they kept me for a week in a cellar three years ago just because of my father and they didn't change me even then."

She did not elaborate on the "they" but apparently referred to Poland's security police during Stalinist years.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — Senatorial back-scratchers got scratched the other day. The U-tickle-you-and-you-tickle-me brigade emerged from a closed session of the Senate Public Works Subcommittee on Flood Control painfully welled.

One of the mammoth items under consideration was the flood control bill for the Tennessee Valley Authority. Senator Lister Hill, of Alabama, remarked modestly that he was the father of the measure, but that, in addition, he had a rather personal interest in the TVA because it had been kind enough to name a town in northern Alabama, near Muscle Shoals, "Lister Hill."

Senator Albert Gore, of Tennessee, came out fearlessly, and assured his southern Democratic colleague it was an honor well-deserved. In response to this, Senator Hill stated, flatly and unequivocally, that it was high time the TVA named a city in Tennessee "Albert Gore."

SENATOR ESTES Kefauver smiled, with rare courage, and said he agreed that his Tennessee confrere should be thus honored. In return, Senator Gore asserted, unequivocally and reciprocally that the TVA would be unthinkable ungrateful if it didn't name a metropolis "Estes Kefauver."

They were naming communities for each other like mad, when Senator Norris Cotton, of New Hampshire, unsheathed his Republican claws and scratched the back-scratchers.

"Speaking as a dandyman from the North," said Cotton silkily, "I would be happy to see a town named after every one of you southern Senators. I am sure you deserve it."

"But while you are bowing, and scraping, and paying tribute to each other, I want to ask one question:

"Where would the whole South be without cotton?"

GEORGE MURPHY, the Hollywood movie star, who has a sideline staging shows for Republican rallies, returned here the other day for the first time since he helped produce the inaugural. I inquired about his health, and he replied he was all right except that his eyes were causing him trouble.

He recalled, "After the inauguration was over, Edward R. Carr, the entertainment chairman, said he would like to send me a memento of the affair. I told him there had been a small figure of an eagle on top of the pavilion opposite the White House, and that it would be a nice little souvenir. I had been looking at it through my confounded bifocals."

"What have your bifocals got to do with it?"

"Just this," said Mr. Murphy. "The 'small' eagle arrived at my home in Beverly Hills last week. But this time I saw it up close, without my bifocals."

"My idea had been to use it as a rooftop decoration for my two-story colonial home, but if I'd ever attempted it, the whole house would have caved in."

"That statue I thought was so cute is seven feet tall and weighs 450 pounds!"

TV Changes Technique Used In Magic Shows

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — "Television has brought a new technique to magic," said Milbourne Christopher, crumpling a paper napkin into a small ball. "The old is gone—like this."

He held up the crumpled paper, turned his hand, and — presto! — the napkin was gone.

Christopher will represent American magicians tonight in an international "Festival of Magic" presented by "Producers Showcase" on NBC-TV. Christopher will perform one of the most daring feats ever performed, a feat that defied the late great Houdini.

Christopher will catch in his teeth a bullet fired from a .22 rifle. He's never done it before. He is only one of the renowned magicians visible on "Producers Showcase" tonight. Li King Si and Mrs. Li King Si, will make their American debut, presenting illusions by sleight-of-hand with bolts of silk and bowls of water along with Robert Hardin of South Africa.

There will be June Merlin, blonde Irish beauty queen who performs "miracles" with rabbits and mice. There also will be Cardini of Great Britain, Sorcar of India and Rene Septembre of France.

The change which TV has wrought in magic Christopher described thus:

"Both the tiniest and the largest tricks can be performed simply by bringing the camera close-up or pulling it far back. But the television frame precludes the magician's technique of distraction which he uses with a large audience. One thing is certain. The television audience accepts magic as long as it is performed live. On film, no one believes it."

How to leave your family

a Deed instead of a Debt

Whether you are already paying on a mortgage or just undertaking the purchase of a home, there is an important question which you should face: would your wife and children have a home "free and clear" if something should happen to you?

The answer to this question is as near as your phone. Your Metropolitan Representative can work out a specific solution to fit your needs and your income.

For instance, a Metropolitan Mortgage Term Plan is designed to cover the usual type of home mortgage which decreases each year as payments on the principal are made. The face amount of the Mortgage Term Plan decreases in the same proportion, so that your level premium is relatively inexpensive.

A more satisfactory plan for many men is a Metropolitan Whole Life Policy. This is permanent insurance which not only assures that funds will be available for payment of the mortgage in the event of death, but also builds cash and loan values which may be used to take care of mortgage payments in the event of illness or emergency. Because the face value does not decrease, it can be used for continuing protection for you and your family after the mortgage is paid off.

Whatever plan your Metropolitan Representative suggests, you can be sure that it will be specifically designed to meet your present and future needs.

We suggest that you call him today and let him help you set the wheels in motion to help protect the continued ownership of your home by your family. He will welcome the opportunity to show that

Metropolitan service is as local as Main Street... as close as your phone

Mail Call Gets Dogs In Trouble

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Postmaster Fergus McRee reports his mail carriers have faithfully followed his advice to be kind to dogs — even to feed them dog candy — to keep from being bitten. And what happens?

Folks are complaining their dogs like the mail men so much they're following them around getting lost.

"And people along one man's route," said McRee, "are complaining about the friendly dogs following him and running through their yards."

Cohen Silent; Wallace, ABC Network 'Eat Crow'

By ATRA BAER
NEW YORK (INS)—If a ABC, Mike Wallace and his sponsors have a severe case of indigestion today—it's because of all that crow they ate last night.

A complete "retraction, withdrawal and apology" was made by an ABC veeep, on "The Mike Wallace Interview," seconded by Mike, for last Sunday night's circus which found noted florist Mickey Cohen describing Los Angeles police officials in unflattering and running through their yards.

The veeep, Oliver Treys, spoke for ABC proxy Leonard Golden, saying it was all "unforeseen, unexpected and profoundly regrettable."

Stressing that the James Hamilton, a former police chief, a former mayor and even "all the citizens of Los Angeles" were "spontaneous" and "unrehearsed," Treys added that he "knows of no facts" reflecting on the official and personal qualifications of the gentlemen verbally misquoted by Cohen.

(Mr. Treys carefully iterated that agency and sponsors were lending their sentiments to the apology, and had no initial inkling there'd be a stinkling.)

"Me too," said Mike, or words to that effect which were actually longer and began with "I join sincerely with, etc."

Everybody was apologized to: Chief of Los Angeles police William Parker, chief of intelligence self and Parker, but about others who might receive like treatment in the future.

As far as the sincerity of the ABC brass, sponsor and Mike—it's genuine all right.

So what can they say after they say they're sorry?

Anything else said on the subject will be said in court.

Clubs To Hear History Talk

At a joint meeting of the Cumberland Lions and Kiwanis clubs Wednesday at noon William B. Catton, 31-year-old son of Bruce Catton, who has written a number of outstanding volumes on the Civil War, will be the speaker.

A history professor at the University of Maryland, Catton will discuss the life of John W. Garrett, the Civil War president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. He plans to emphasize Garrett's struggles to complete the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad from Pittsburgh to Cumberland. The speaker received national recognition concerning his writings on John W. Garrett, when an article about the railroad magnate's life appeared in the February issue of the magazine American Heritage.

The Lions and Kiwanis are meeting together because the Memorial Day holiday eliminates the regular meeting date for the Kiwanis.

Forty District Units Participate In Civil Defense Operation

Operation Flame was staged (rescue units in Western Maryland yesterday, with land taking part. more than 40 fire fighting and Cromwell C. Zembower, co-ordinator for CD fire units in the history of the area.

He said all of the fire fighting and rescue units which took part were manned with normal crews. County coordinators, he added, saw to it that all communities were well protected during the time the units were committed to Operation Flame.

He said 43 pieces of fire fighting equipment were moved to target areas where fires had been set and that several more fire units moved to provide protection for the units placed into service.

All fire units of Allegany County were alerted as Operation Flame was set off yesterday at 9 a. m. by Assistant Fire Chief Alvey Poole, fire coordinator for this county.

Answering the first alarm at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant—target area for Operation Flame here—were the Bowmans Addition, District 16 and Bedford Road volunteer fire companies and a unit of the Cumberland Fire Department.

Other companies were dispatched to the LaVale assembly area, where all but five were sent to the target area.

The Bowling Green, Bloomington, Westernport, Clarysville and Lonaconing companies, which had been held in reserve, were directed by CD officials to go to Baltimore Pike.

The five units were recalled to Constitution Park to quench a simulated bonfire and then dispatched to the main target area. Reporting to the PPG plant were 17 fire companies with crews totaling 99 men.

The included the LaVale, Midland, Bloomington, Westernport, Barton, Frostburg, Clarysville, Lonaconing, Mt. Savage, McCoole, Corriganville, Cresaptown, Bowmans Addition, Bedford Road, District 16, Bowling Green and Cumberland companies.

Augmented by the plant fire brigade, it made some 113 fire fighters on the scene.

Four Fires Set

The fire fighters proceeded to quench four fires set at the plant for a live exercise. Two of the blazes provided by big piles of scrap lumber were quenched by lines from hydrants.

Two smaller blazes were put out by the Barton, Midland and District 16 companies, which formed relays using over 1,000 feet of hose.

Assistant Chief Poole said the men did a magnificent job in getting the fires under control. He said Civil Defense authorities appreciated the efforts of the staff of Works 7 of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and its safety director, John J. Long, in making the actual fire exercise possible.

Operation Flame also provided a workout for the class in emergency feeding operations.

That unit, in charge of Mrs. Gladys Eaton, prepared food and delivered it to the target area shortly after 10 a. m., and set up a canteen for the CD workers. Traffic in the vicinity of the Allegany County target area was in charge of some 7 members of the Cumberland Auxiliary Police Department.

Control from the assembly area was in charge of Joseph Wenrich, Cresaptown, and James Lamberton, Barton, assistant fire coordinators.

The Allegany County rescue unit was dispatched to the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company plant and pulled several dummies from the sand hoppers of the batch plant.

The unit headed by Jesse Baker was sent to the target area after it completed its mission.

Mr. Barger said Operation Flame provided a good test for the CD fire fighting, communications, rescue and mass feeding units of this county.

All eight of Garrett County's volunteer fire companies moved during the alert.

Oakland Area

Five of the companies, Oakland, Deer Park, Accident, Grantsville and Friendsville, sped to the target area near Friendsville.

The Gorman unit was moved to Kitzmiller and the Kitzmiller company filled in at Deer Park while the Bloomington unit moved into Allegany County.

Operation Flame in Garrett County called for extinguishing a fire in an old barn near Friendsville.

The entire operation was in charge of George Comp Jr., Deer Park, CD fire coordinator for Garrett County.

Hot Rolls Rise To The Occasion

OLD FASHIONED FAVORITE—Sweet mountain rolls are made with yeast and mashed potatoes.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE when you have to spend time in Associated Press Food Editor doors, roll up your sleeves and SOME RAINY AFTERNOON, do some yeast baking. If you've never used yeast and feel a little timid, ask a more experienced neighbor to come over and lend a hand. Kneading and shaping may be done successfully by following written directions, but it is always helpful to see how an experienced baker handles the dough.

The following recipe for rolls includes mashed potatoes, because they contribute to the light and airy texture. This dough has an advantage: it may be made ahead, refrigerated and used as needed.

SWEET MOUNTAIN ROLLS
Ingredients: 1 cup milk, 1 cup hot mashed potatoes, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 cup warm (near 105 degrees water, package active dry yeast, 2 eggs, 5 to 6 cups sifted flour, red jam.

Method: Scald milk, stir in hot mashed potatoes, shortening, sugar and salt, let stand until lukewarm. Measure water into a large mixing bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm potato-milk mixture. Beat eggs thoroughly for a few minutes and add with 1 1/2 cups flour; beat well. Cover and let stand in a warm place until full of bubbles—about 1 hour. Stir in enough of the remaining 4 1/2 to 5 cups flour (and any extra needed) to make a fairly stiff dough. Turn out on lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased mixing bowl; grease top of dough; cover and refrigerate. About 1 1/2 hours before serving, remove dough from the refrigerator and roll out to about 1/4-inch thick. Cut with biscuit cutter and place rounds of dough on greased cookie sheet or in shallow baking pan. Let rolls rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour. Push thumb into the center of each round. Fill center with jam, using about 1 1/2 teaspoons for each. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot.

First step: Flatten dough slightly by pressing it firmly with the fingers of both hands, fold it over on itself toward you; use a rolling motion.

Second step: Push the ball of dough away from you with the part of your palm that is nearest your wrist; use both hands.

Third step: Grasp the dough with both hands and turn one-quarter way around on the board; repeat these three steps.

The time it takes yeast dough to double in bulk will vary with Place wilted vegetables in ice-cold water or between layers of crushed ice to freshen them. Then cover with clean damp cloth and store in refrigerator.

Try this with leftover cooked cereal: pack while warm into a clean loaf pan, cool thoroughly; remove from pan, slice and pan fry.

the temperature of the room, the amount of yeast used, the type of flour used and upon the other ingredients in the recipe. To test whether dough has doubled its original size, press two fingers deep into it; if the holes remain when fingers are withdrawn, the dough has probably doubled in bulk. When the shaped dough has stood in a warm place until it is puffy, press it gently with a finger tip. If a slight indentation remains, it is ready to bake.

Cheese Twists Are Appealing

Cheese Twists are a savory hot cup, and oil. Let stand a few minutes. Turn into biscuit mix, often. Zesty with onion, Parmesan cheese and paprika. They also boast a twisted shape which makes them quite appealing. Two convenient foods, biscuit mix and instant minced onion, take all the work out of making these little breads.

Cheese Twists
1 1/2 cups biscuit mix
1 small raw onion, finely chopped (1/4 cup)
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons oil
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Measure biscuit mix into mixing bowl. Place onion in measuring cup, add milk to make 1/2 cup, add milk to make 1 1/2 cups.

John Powers, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, paced the Southern Assn. in home runs in 1956. He hit 39 for New Orleans.

Ingredients: 1 pound fish fillets (fresh or frozen), 2 cups in large saucepan until lightly browned. Add garlic, onion and crushed saltines. 1/4 cup cubed celery and over low heat cook salt pork, 1 clove garlic (minced), 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/2 cup sliced celery, 1 cup water, 1 cup saltines, carrots, bay leaf, thyme and nutmeg. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Add fish; saltine-milk mixture and sugar (75 cents), mixture, and butter. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 5 to 8 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove bay leaf. Add mayonnaise to taste and serve with a sprinkling of minced parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Mary Haworth's Mail
Editor's Note: How find true love? And how be strong? Asks girl who takes life too seriously.
DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am an average 21-year-old girl who maybe thinks a little too seriously about life. My main thoughts concern the future, and I flounderingly try to gain a solid approach to life, by which I can be strong and a person whom I would admire.
Another of my main thoughts is a quest to find true love. I fell really in love a few years ago and lost him. It seems to have taken something out of me, but it left me stronger than I was before. I have tried to fall in love again, but things just don't work out.
My philosophy is, choose the man, then fall in love. Sounds sensible, doesn't it? Yes, but there's one thing missing. Someone I have known only a short time found out my secret desire for love, and told me: "To find love you must have love in your heart." I have begun to realize that that is what's missing in my solid approach to life and love.
I don't really love people any more. I try to be a good Christian, but there are selfish motives in everything I do. I want to have love in my heart, and I want to share it. But I honestly don't know where to begin.
Miss Haworth, please tell me how to love.—B.G.
DEAR B.G.: Self-understanding does much to correct a great deal that is wrong with most of us, I think. At least it lights up the darkness in which we had been lost before, and encourages us to do what can be done, to put things right.
The fact that you wish to be strong in life indicates that, deep down in your nature, you feel weak, helpless and threatened—as if short of all protection by outside sources. As if nobody cares for you at all, not even your parents!
And this conviction, for which there may be some slight foundation—say, of maternal neglect; or of lifelong family favoritism towards a brother or sister—is probably at the root of your whole problem. That is, your problem of thinking too much—worrying, really—and not going out to meet life in an enthusiastic self-forgetful spirit.
Furthermore, your desire to be a person whom you could admire suggests that your real self has been pretty severely slighted by certain powerful influences in your background—authorities who reared you, teachers who scolded, overlooked, pushed aside, and compared to others, more admired, in your formative early years; and lectured on how the ideal child should behave, so as to win grown-ups' approval.
The effect of that sort of thing on a sensitive love-hungry youngster is to make him or her feel unaccountably inferior, apologetic and, finally, defensive and stoic—hardly daring to feel, much less to show any attachment (or attraction) to anyone, or any desire to be tenderly cherished. The proposition is something like leaving a person out in the cold, until he is frozen stiff—then wondering why he isn't more warmly alive!

Figuratively speaking, your love-feelings have been refrigerated, and your self-esteem is pretty ragged, like a flowering plant that's being picked to pieces by persons who ought to know better.
You should be growing naturally, unself-consciously, from the center of yourself, warmed and nourished by sympathetic approval from significant sources—thus becoming the personality you were born to be. But, instead, you've been trying to turn yourself into a magnolia, let's say, when nature intended you to be a rose.
You've been trying to grow according to a pattern not you—a pattern that has roots in somebody else's feelings about you (feelings that are none to kindly, I gather).
Love is a by-product of self-respect, an overflow of good feeling about self, a delight in living that spontaneously takes others to heart. To get the pitch, you ought to have two or three good talks with a first-rate psychologist, who will teach you to react from your soul—not with dazed reference to critics' views—in being you.—M.H.

Long's Vote Delays Rail Crossing Move

Councilman Questions Waiving City Right To Reopen Williams St.

A negative vote automatically delayed until next week Mayor and Council action on the proposed official closing of the Williams Street crossing today.

The B&O Railroad proposes to pay the city $50,000 if the crossing is closed and the right to reopen it is waived.

But Finance Commissioner John J. Long voted against approving it this morning because of the wording of the ordinance. He further stated that the city "is still the municipality and should run it," and that in waiving the right to reopen the crossing it should be remembered that "forever is a long, long time."

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan voted for the ordinance but had questioned certain wording in it. This referred to the fact that the B&O had advised the city that if the crossing were closed it would contribute toward the first grade elimination of Williams Street, Harrison Street, Union Street and the Baltimore Street crossings.

Suggested By B&O

Keegan said originally the plan referred only to Williams Street. He was told by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan that the language was suggested by the B&O.

An amendment was placed in the ordinance earmarking the money to be received under the proposal for the general fund.

On another ordinance action, council amended the original one for the sale of $200,000 in Urban Development bonds. The amendment would allow council to reset the sale date hanging upon a decision of the court which has been asked for a declaratory judgment on certain names contained on petitions asking a referendum on the bond sale. The original sale date, prior to the call for a referendum, was May 21.

No Damages In Closings

Commissioners appointed by the city to look into possible damages brought about by the closing of a portion of Tremont Street at the request of Cumberland Box Company, and Emma, Key, South, Ontario, Vancouver, Lansing and several alleys in connection with the B&O yard expansion, made their reports.

No damages were found in either case. But in the B&O transaction, it was pointed out that C. W. Johnson of Laing Avenue, could maintain ingress and egress from his property through the deed by the B&O of certain land to the city.

Bridge Work To Bring Ban On Parking

During construction of the new Baltimore Street bridge, parking will be banned on North Mehanie Street from Baltimore to Market and on Centre Street from Union to Market, between the hours of 4 p. m. and 6 p. m.

The announcement was made today by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan during the session of the Mayor and Council.

In event of emergencies or as courtesy to business people it is possible that some parking will be permitted during those hours, but Keegan said the department will have men on duty to take care of those situations as they arise.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said signs have been ordered for placement on streets involved and will be here about the end of the month.

The ban on offstreet parking during the two hour period is necessary to maintain the flow of traffic.

Mother Of Five Children Sent To Reformatory

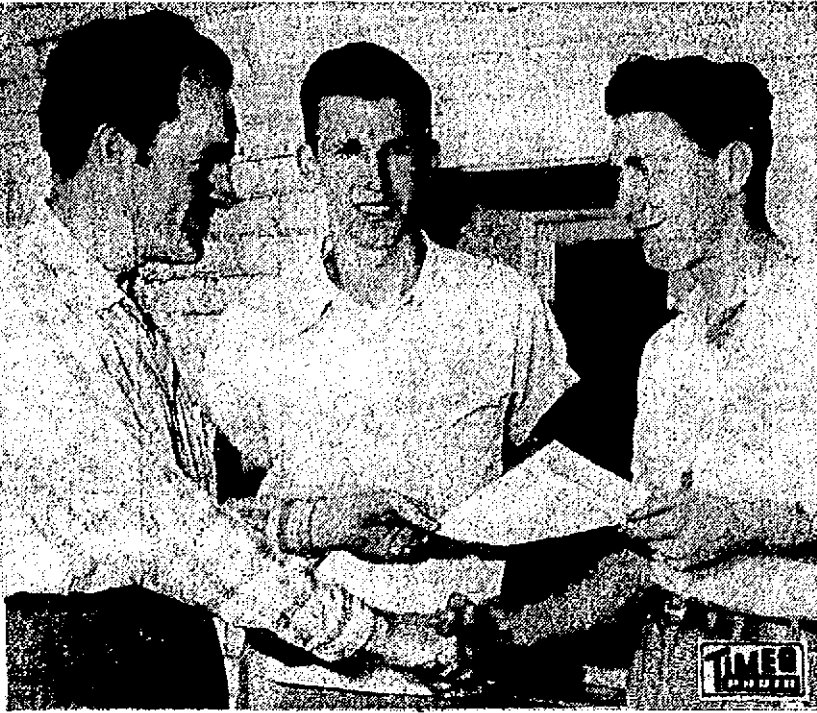

A mother of five children was sentenced to the Maryland Reformatory for Women this morning in Juvenile Court.

Judge Anderson ordered the woman committed to the Reformatory for a period of one year, and stated that her children would be turned over to the Allegany County Welfare Department.

The Magistrate noted that the Dawson woman has a previous record in Juvenile Court.

Festerman's Prison Term Lengthened

An Allegany county man serving 15 months in the House of Correction as the result of a sentence imposed in Baltimore City was returned here today for a hearing on charges of passing a number of bad checks last fall.

He is Donald Lee Festerman, 23, of Nikep, who was given an additional term of three years in the House of Correction by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris on the local charge.

Festerman first ran afoul of the law in 1954 when he was convicted in Circuit Court here of manslaughter by automobile and sentenced to six months in the county jail. He struck a man named Freeman in the Georges Creek area with his car.

Last November 15 Festerman opened a checking account at the Second National Bank of Cumberland with an initial deposit of $14.50 in cash. In a period of a few days Festerman made deposits by check at the bank but all the checks were bogus.

Festerman wound up with a total of $2,810 in the checking account with only the $14.50 in cash being legitimate. The rest of the amount came from forged checks. Festerman then started to draw checks until he had withdrawn a total of $2,782.30.

Later he went to Baltimore and was arrested on a bad check charge there. Meanwhile, the grand jury here had indicted him for the local bad check charges.

Judge Harris reminded Festerman that he had sentenced him to the county jail in the manslaughter case but "apparently you are indifferent to the law."

The judge also said Festerman had been "baited out" of a siting by his father after he had passed bad checks against a Frostburg bank on a previous occasion.

On Assessments

CHARLESTON (AP)—The Western Maryland Railway, which lost an appeal on its 1954 tax assessments and has its 1955-56 assessments before the State Supreme Court, complained today about its 1957 assessments.

Attorney Gene Williams, representing the company, said that the Board of Public Works did not downgrade the values of its properties enough in West Virginia.

The board, which sets values of utilities for tax purposes, tentatively valued Western Maryland property in the state at $13,000,000, down $2,000,000 from last year. Williams told the board that the value should be about $9,500,000.

Sewage Plant Rate Meeting Will Be Held

A meeting in two weeks will probably determine rates to be charged in connection with operation of the new $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant.

Today Finance Commissioner John J. Long, in an obvious reply to a letter from Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz, asked for a meeting with council and other interested parties as soon as possible.

Buchholz had replied to a letter from Long last week in which Long had said it was Street Department responsibility to set the rate to be charged. But Buchholz said the rate question was one for the Finance Department and the Street Department was responsible only for the plant's operation.

Long told council he wanted the meeting and would bring in amortization records if Buchholz would also submit his operating cost figure, so that a basis for the rate charge could be determined. He added later that the final rate decision, in his opinion, is up to the Mayor and Council.

The sewage treatment plant is scheduled to go into operation sometime next month, but no definite date has been set.

On other matters council took two appointive actions. It named James E. Ellsworth Jr., as a probationary police officer effective May 29 and William H. Divilbiss as a probationary fireman effective May 28.

Garbage collector, C. L. Beck, notified council he will renew his contract for $65,000. The city originally had given Beck a one-year contract with first option to renew for three years. This will be his third year under terms of the agreement.

Accepted was the bid of the U. S. Pipe and Foundry Company for $2,551.14 in pipe and fittings which will be used in connection with the new Baltimore Street bridge construction. Cost is being charged to the flood account.

Man Found Asleep In Judge's Bed

OAKLAND — From now on at least one local man will probably be more careful where he goes to bed.

A recent night William Waller went to the home of Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, and when the jurist started in search of the sheriff Waller went upstairs and climbed into the judge's bed.

Saturday the man was taken before Magistrate Earl Friend, who fined him $50 for drunk and disorderly conduct and $10 for illegally parking his car.

According to Sheriff Paul W. Fisher, Waller went to the judge's home and walked in without knocking.

Judge Fraley was startled, thinking possibly it was someone whom he had at one time sentenced.

When asked by the jurist what he was doing the man replied: "I'm going to bed here."

At this point the judge excused himself and went for the sheriff. Upon his return with Sheriff Fisher the man had disappeared, but they finally found him in the judge's bed. He had removed his trousers but still had his shoes on.

Waller maintained that someone took him to the door and told him to go in and go to bed. He doesn't remember how he got into the bed. His auto was found later that evening near the judge's home with the lights still on.

Frostburg Tax Continued At $1.10 Figure

Hike Seen Needed For Fiscal Year Beginning In '58

FROSTBURG—The tax rate for the 1957-58 fiscal year in Frostburg again has been set at $1.10 per $100 of taxable personal and general property, but city officials pointed out that it will be necessary to raise the tax rate in the following fiscal year.

The rate was adopted at a meeting last week of the Mayor and Council with the city clerk and city auditor. The levy was assessed on $8,379,605 of taxable property, and amounts to a return of $92,175.65 upon which the city must operate its business for the coming fiscal year.

It had been suggested that the tax rate be raised five cents, but it was pointed out that the increase would only bring an additional $4,189.80 in revenue. A 15 cent increase in the tax rate would bring an additional $12,569.40, but this would be the maximum permitted by law, it was pointed out.

Allocations Noted

The budget sets up $27,158.00 for the administration of the city's business. The Street Department will receive $60,018, broken down as follows: for streets, $48,500; for sewers, $6,663, and for the collection of waste, $4,850.

$38,303 has been earmarked for the expenses of the Police Department; $32,265, for the Fire Department; and $24,900 for the retirement of bonds and the payment of interest on bonds.

The Water Department has been allocated $30,000 for salaries, and $18,000 for the retirement of water bonds during the coming year. $8,025 has been set up for the expense of operating the street lighting department, making a total of $66,025 earmarked for the water and street lighting departments.

There will be a $15,000 street improvement bond issue coming due in 1959, for which no provision has been made as yet. This bond issue, made in 1939, must be liquidated in some manner next year.

Mayor Joseph James issued the following statement concerning the levy:

"James Rodgers, the city's auditor, informed the city officials that no major improvements should be undertaken by the city for the next year unless a tax increase is granted immediately. If each commissioner would be conservative in running his department for another year, as they have during the past year, it would be possible to get by another year without an increase in the tax rate.

Improvements Costly

"City Clerk William Voglman reminded the city officials that although several major improvements were made last year which caused several of the departments to go beyond their budgets, it was not serious. It was necessary to install sewer and water lines on Mount Pleasant Street, extended, repair sewer lines on Standish Street where it runs through the property of Frederick Morton; repair a reservoir near Big Savage Mountain above the filtration plant.

"This reservoir was built several years ago, but was not used due to leaks which had to be repaired.

"The purchase of a new patrol car for the police department, and the changing and improving of traffic signals are a few of the many issues which confronted the city government and which were costly.

"The city officials feel that regardless as to who represents the city government after the city election, which will be held next April, it is only proper to inform the public now that it will be necessary to raise the city taxes beginning in 1958.

"It will be mandatory that a $15,000 bond issue be paid during the year of 1959. This bond issue was ordered 20 years ago, (1939), but no action was ever taken to provide the funds to pay off the obligation in 1959. It is impossible to raise this money at the present tax rate of $1.10. The cost of operating the city has increased in every department by demands made by the public or by emergencies which create an added expense.

Economy Procedure

"In the near future Street Commissioner James Evans plans to use tar and chips on many of the streets where dust or mud exist, due to weather conditions. It will be necessary for the property owners to pay the cost of materials in such improvements. It is necessary to use this procedure due to the close budget which must be adhered to in order to operate the city government."

"I wish to add a personal touch to this message to the taxpayers of Frostburg," he added. "I want to inform the public and thank the City Commissioners and City Clerk for their cooperation during the past year. They have operated their departments with top efficiency in order to maintain a financially sound city government. They may not have made the improvements that

Heavy Storms Hit Maryland Over Weekend

By The Associated Press

Northern sections of Frederick and Baltimore counties bore the brunt of thunderstorms which hit scattered areas of Maryland over the weekend.

Small craft warnings were up on Chesapeake Bay and high winds predicted for Maryland and Delaware materialized on schedule Sunday night.

There was considerable flooding in the Parkton and White Hall sections of Baltimore County, including two feet of water on U.S. 111 from the Gunpowder River. At least two Pennsylvania Railroad trains—en route to and from Buffalo, N.Y.—were stalled more than two hours.

Trees Block Roads

In Frederick County, streams surged from their banks but receded quickly. Power was off for two hours in Emmitsburg as a severe hailstorm riding high winds pounded the area.

Fallen trees blocked two roads out of Emmitsburg. Gardens were flattened. Hail still covered the ground an hour after the storm broke. The hailstones broke windows in many homes.

Lightning Struck a Transformer near Poolesville, cutting off power in the upper section of neighboring Montgomery County. The city of Frederick had high winds with a hard rain but there was no appreciable damage.

Baltimore County police said the water on U.S. 111, which runs north toward the Pennsylvania line, forced them to re-route traffic. The area under water was confined to a hollow on the north side of Parkton and county police said they received no calls for assistance.

Two other Baltimore County roads were closed to traffic because bridges over Gunpowder Falls were under water. Trees and utility poles blocked sections of U. S. 111 below the flooded area.

Power Lines Knocked Out
Western Maryland apparently escaped the storms with nothing more than a trace of rain. State police reported no other flood damage in the state although some power and telephone lines were knocked out in Harford County.

The storms came when cold air moving into the area clashed with warm, moist air already there.

In Baltimore City, damage was negligible. The main effect was a sudden drop of temperatures which had climbed to a record 91 earlier in the day.

Friendship International Airport reported winds up to 35 miles per hour.

Lightning damaged one building in Baltimore and felled a tree which narrowly missed Mrs. Anna May Cox, 27, as she hurried along a sidewalk after hearing a crack.

Workers Protest
Fly Ash Deposit

A petition, containing names of Kelly Springfield Tire Company workers, was submitted to the Mayor and Council today in protest to excessive ash which is alleged to come from stacks of the Potomac Edison River Plant.

The petition said the ash is ruining paint on cars parked at the Kelly plant and obscures vision on windshields to such an extent that driving is a hazard.

Spokesman for the group was Charles B. Krimm.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the matter is being investigated.

Increase Fee For Birth And Death Copies

The fee for certified copies of birth and death records will be increased from 50 cents to $1 per copy effective June 1, according to the Allegany County Health Department.

A law changing the fee was passed at the recent session of the General Assembly. Birth registration notices, suitable for school admission and work permits, will continue to be issued without charge as before.

Under the existing system the State Health Department, 2111 North Charles Street, Baltimore 18, receives and issues copies of birth and death records only for persons who were born or who died in the counties of Maryland.

Guard Units
To Plan For Range Work

The non-commissioned officers of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 113th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, will meet today at 8 p. m. at the armory, according to First Sgt. Roy C. Hawse.

Sgt. Hawse said preparations will be made for weekend firing at Barton's Dairy this Saturday and Sunday. Each NCO will be assigned a job on the range to improve the marksmanship of the men scheduled to fire. The M1 rifle and Carbine will be fired.

Sgt. Hawse said.

Members of Headquarters and Headquarters Company will meet at the Armory on Saturday and Sunday at 7:30 a. m.

Scheduled to attend tonight's session are Master Sergeants Graydon Dunlap, Walter Hartman, William Northcraft, Robert See and Robert Wade Sr.

Sergeants First Class John Divico, William Earle, Charles Griffith, Anthony McKenzie, James Mulennex and Matthew Skidmore, and Sergeants James Conlon, Joseph Conner, Patrick Garrett, George Tanney Hill and William Walsh.

Capt. John D. Bessell, company commander, said members of the National Guard unit will march in the Memorial Day parade here.

The men have been asked to report to the Armory at 10 a. m. Thursday. The Guard's regular drill day has been cancelled, Capt. Bessell said.

Schoolgirls Hurt
In Road Mishap

PARSONS, W. Va.—Five Tucker county girls were injured last week when the vehicle in which they were traveling turned over on Backbone mountain.

The group, sophomore students at Parsons High School, had been attending a class picnic when they decided to drive to Backbone Falls. The mishap occurred on Route 219 about a mile north of Skyline on Backbone mountain.

Admitted to Tucker County Hospital here were Donna Parsons, 16, and Laura Sue Williams, 15, both of Parsons, and Patty Roy, 15, and Patty Young, 16, both of Hambleton. Treated today at 8:30 p. m. at the home and released was Phyllis Ann of Mrs. Virginia Robinette, Catskill, 15, Parsons. Attached to the group were the girls' parents.

The girls were traveling in a truck driven by Miss Young and accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young.

Class To Complete
Plans For Reunion

Final plans for the fifteenth reunion of the 1942 graduating class of Allegany High School will be formulated at a meeting today at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Virginia Robinette, Catskill, 15, Parsons. Attached to the group were the girls' parents.

Charles Smith, general chairman for its members of the planning committee should attend the meeting, which will be the last prior to the reunion.

Garrett Man Asks $5,000 In Libel Case

A Garrett county garage and restaurant owner has docketed suit in Circuit Court at Hagerstown against a trucking company and one of its officers for $5,000.

The suit was filed by Cecil E. Lewis, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan of Cumberland. Named defendants are the Accelerated Transport-Pony Express, Inc., of Hagerstown and Robert Broderick, an officer of the company.

Broderick is accused of ruining the reputation of the Lewis business establishment, and telling Pony Express drivers not to patronize the place.

"The reputation of the plaintiff and his standing in the community has been damaged, and people have refused to patronize the place of business," the suit against the trucking firm alleges.

Lewis says in the bill of particulars that he is married and operate a service station, garage and restaurant on Route 50 near Oakland and his business is always conducted "in a decent and respectable manner."

It is further said that Broderick and the company truck drivers, from time to time, had been served at this place of business.

However, "for some reason unknown to the plaintiff, and with the intent to degrade and slander the plaintiff," Broderick last October was said to have held a meeting of the truck drivers "and falsely and maliciously spoke and published" certain words about the Lewis business establishment and told the drivers not to patronize the place any more.

City Employees
Granted Extra
Day Vacation

All city employees are going to get an extra day off — some through an order by the Mayor and Council and others when it can be arranged by the various departments.

The "extra" day came about when the council ordered today that city hall offices and departments be closed Thursday and Friday in observance of Memorial Day. Since City Hall is not open Saturday, that means a long weekend.

Offices will reopen Monday at the regular hour.

But Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan suggested that those unable to have the time off because of official duties get an extra day with the schedule to be worked out by the departments.

Keegan pointed out that the city has not been able to do anything for its employees wage-wise, and he believed they are entitled to the time off.

Frostburg Tax

Some folks think could have been accomplished, but starting out year with a $8,000 deficit, which was no fault of any administration, paying all but $1,400 of this debt and operating and making the necessary improvements without raising taxes is a feat within itself.

"I feel certain that the coming year will show more improvements and progress than the year gone by."

Most Dodgers See Transfer To West Coast

BROOKLYN—A great majority of the Brooklyn players are convinced the Dodgers will move to Los Angeles, a player-by-player poll revealed today.

To avoid putting any of the players on the spot, the athletes were not asked to state whether they favored or opposed such a move but several privately voiced hope that the franchise be shifted to the west coast. The Los Angeles lovers included some who live in the East, too.

None See Club Staying

The most surprising revelation was this: Not one of the players polled—a little more than half the team was approached—said he thought the Dodgers would remain in Brooklyn. A few, like Pee Wee Reese, Roy Campanella and Jim Gilliam, said they just didn't know.

Sai Maglie declared he didn't particularly care whether the Dodgers went or stayed, as long as he remained with them.

Other top stars of the club, Carl Furillo, Duke Snider and Don Newcombe, foresaw a shift to the west coast.

"I really believe the Dodgers will move to Los Angeles," said Furillo. "Mind you, I don't know. I don't believe anyone does—unless it's Walter O'Malley. And I doubt if even he does, right now. But judging from the attendance, I think O'Malley will go through with it. I don't think he's happy with those crowds of 8,000 to 9,000 that come to a night game."

'Got To Be True'

Snider—"Yes, I think we'll move to Los Angeles. It may be next year or the year after. I don't know when. But it's got to come. All this talk must mean something."

Newcombe—"I say yes. Mr. O'Malley means business. And the sooner the politicians here realize the better off they'll be. Mr. O'Malley doesn't fool around. He knows what he wants and he usually gets it."

Gino Cimoli—"Definitely yes. The Los Angeles offer is too good to turn down."

Don Zimmer—"I believe the club will move. There's too much said and written about it to make it just another wild rumor. The poor attendance at Ebbets Field hasn't helped the Brooklyn cause."

Carl Erskine—"I'm convinced we'll move out of Ebbets Field but I don't know where. Mr. O'Malley already has said the Dodgers won't play at Ebbets Field in 1959."

Drott Living Up To Raves With Chicubs

By International News Service

In baseball, there's many a springtime beauty that fades in the heat of regular season competition. But Dick Drott's ability is just beginning to blossom.

The 20-year-old right-hander from Los Angeles wasn't listed on the springtime roster of the Chicago White Sox. However, he made the team March 31 when he pitched a two-hitter as the Cubs beat the New York Giants, 3 to 2.

The sturdy hurler carried an awesome reputation with him when he arrived at spring training. He was the strikeout king of the Pacific Coast League last year, whiffing 184 opponents in just 197 inning of pitching. His record was 13-and-10 with the Los Angeles Angels.

Once the regular season started, Drott's success was only moderate as he suffered from poor support on a few occasions. But yesterday he was a one-man show.

Drott set a new club strikeout record by fanning 15 opponents as the Cubs beat Milwaukee, 7 to 5. That equaled the one-game record the Cincinnati-born hurler set for himself last year.

The 15 whiffs bettered by two, however, the Cub standard held jointly by Sad Sam Jones and Lon Warneke.

Drott fanned both Hank Aaron and Billy Branton three times each as he gained his third win in seven decisions.

Gordie Howe Enjoys Big Year In Hockey

DETROIT—Gordie Howe, winner of the Hart Trophy for the third time in his illustrious 11-year career in the National Hockey League, had a big hockey season. He made $4,500 above in the fourth inning of the night cap. It kept the Orioles from breaking the game wide open.

After Triandos had doubled for being a member of the team with one away, Pilecki walked, champion Red Wings, picked up Kell slapped a long liner to left, another $1,000 when he won the which got into the stiff breeze. Art Ross Trophy as scoring blowing toward right. Williams, champion, got another $1,000 for at first misjudged the shot. He winning the Hart Trophy and made a last-minute stab on the $500 when the Red Wings beat run and hauled it in one-handed. Bredeweser later walked but For-nieles bounced back to the mound off to end the frame.

It was quite a day for oldtimers in Baltimore yesterday.

Braves Find Nemesis In Lowly Chicubs

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK (INS)—Fred Haney has a sinking feeling in his stomach today that tells him the Milwaukee Braves have picked up a nemesis in the Chicago Cubs that may bedevil them all season long.

Having a second-division team as a jinx is nothing new for Haney. Last year, when Milwaukee lost the pennant by one game, the Braves won every team series except the one they dropped to fifth-place Philadelphia by a 12-to-10 margin.

If the Braves had taken that series, they would have won the flag.

This year, it's the seventh-place Cubs. The Chicagoans were the first team to beat Milwaukee after the Braves won five in a row to open the season. The Cubs beat the Braves again Friday, but yesterday topped everything.

Silp To Third Place

Bob Scheffing's squad swept a doubleheader from the Braves, 7 to 5 and 5 to 4, to drop Milwaukee into third place, 2½ games behind Cincinnati. The Redlegs, incidentally, have taken five from the Cubs without a loss.

The first Cub victory was registered by 20-year-old rookie Dick Drott, who set a new Cub record by striking out nine batters in one game. Drott fanned Hank Aaron and Billy Branton three times each. Chuck Tanner and Del Crandall homered for Milwaukee but those blows were matched by round-trippers by Walt Morin and Ernie Banks. Gene Conley lost.

The teams shared home run honors again in the second with Ed Matthews and Del Rice connecting for the Braves and Cal Newman and Frank Enns clicking for the Cubs. Dick Littlefield got the win when the Cubs rallied for two runs in the ninth off rookie Juan Pizarro. Singles by Lee Walls and Banks drove in the deciding runs.

The Cubs now have beaten Milwaukee four times, twice as often as any other team in the league.

Musial Socks Pair

Elsewhere in the National League, Hal Jeffcoat survived two homers by Stan Musial to hit one himself as Cincinnati defeated St. Louis, 7 to 5. Duke Snider garnered his 1,500th big league hit as the Brooklyn Dodgers beat the New York Giants, 5 to 3. Pittsburgh broke a five-game losing streak by thumping Philadelphia, 13 to 3, but the Phils won the second game of the twin bill, 6 to 3.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox beat the Cleveland Indians, 1 to 0, in ten innings as Billy Pierce won his seventh decision. The Indians won the nightcap, 4 to 3, on Ray Narleski's relief pitching. Washington twice blew six run leads against the New York Yankees but the Senators won the opener, 9 to 7, only to lose the afterpiece, 7 to 6.

Dean Stone and Ike Delock combined on a five-hitter as Boston crushed Baltimore, 9 to 0. The Red Sox also won the second game, 5 to 4, on Mickey Vernon's two-run homer. Kansas City defeated Detroit, 3 to 1, on Ned Garver's three-hit pitching.

Musial's second homer was a grand slam blast in the eighth that tied the game. Jeffcoat's homer off Herm Wehmeier broke the tie in the bottom of the inning. George Crowe's three-run homer helped Cincinnati build a two-game lead over Brooklyn.

The Dodgers moved into second place when Milwaukee dropped two. Snider's big hit was a homer off Ruben Gomez, who lost his second in eight decisions. Ray Jablonski homered off Brooklyn starter Sandy Koufax but Clem Labine saved the south-paw's third win.

Groat Out Ten Days

The Pirates belted 20 hits to break their losing streak but they lost the services of shortstop Dick Groat for ten days. He injured his ankle running to first. Bob Clemente had four hits and drove in five runs as the Buccs routed Curt Simmons. Roy Face won in relief. Don Cardwell won the second to get the Phils even. Luis Arroyo lost.

The White Sox got Pierce his seventh win—tops in the majors—by scoring in the tenth after Bud Daley threw wildly on a pickoff try. Earl Battey hit one homer and Bubba Phillips hit two in the nightcap before Narleski.

Win Tuesday Gives Fort Hill Tie For Crown

By nabbing their 11th win in 12 Allegheny County League baseball starts tomorrow, Fort Hill's pacing Sentinels can assure themselves of at least a tie for the 1957 title.

The Red Raiders, who meet Flintstone on the latter's field, have won 10 of all attempts and hold a two-and-one-half game edge over runnerup Allegheny. The Campers, with an 8-4 mark, tangle with Valley (6-3) at Campobello. A loss for the Black Knights eliminates them from the race providing the Sentinels make a sweep of Flintstone. The Aggies were trimmed, 11-4, the first time while Alto slipped by Valley, 8-7 in nine innings at Bar-Zone Davis Cup competition yesterday.

Valley's last chance hinges on the Sentinels losing their remaining three games with the Knights then having to win all five. One of the remaining tilts for both clubs is a replay of their 9-9 deadlock. That clash will not be rescheduled unless it will have a bearing on the outcome of the race. Fort Hill won over the Knights, 6-5, in their tilt on the local diamond.

Other contests carded tomorrow are Flintstone at Bruce and Mt. Savage playing LaSalle at Stitches Field. The Explorers also have a makeup tilt listed this afternoon against Flintstone on the Aggie diamond.

Trainer Moller Given Suspension

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UP)—Trainer Willie Moller, one of the nation's leading handlers of thoroughbreds, was suspended through June 29 under a California rule that holds a trainer responsible if a horse has been found to be stimulated.

The Hollywood Park stewards suspended Moller earlier Saturday after laboratory tests showed that a horse, Joe Prier, the favorite and winner of the $10,000 Brentwood Purse here last Wednesday, had been stimulated.

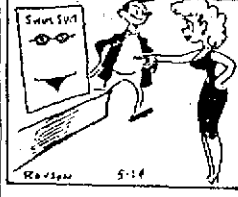

arrived on the scene to stifle Chicago bats. Bob Keegan lost in relief.

The White Sox league lead stayed at three games when the Chicago White Sox beat the Yankees split. Bud Byerly stopped the Yankees in the opener after they tied the score with six in the second. Rocky Bridges singled home the winning run for Washington off Tommy Byrne. The New Yorkers also recovered from a six-run deficit to tie the nightcap, then won it for Bob Grim on Yogi Berra's run producing fly in the ninth off Dick Hyde.

Boston's opening game 13-hit attack was directed largely at Ray Moore. But the Red Sox also scored five runs off Art Houtteman. Vernon's big homer came off Mike Fornieles in the nightcap. George Susce won his third in relief.

Garver's victory made his record 3-and-3. Gus Zernial hit his ninth homer to break a 1-all tie and hand Duke Maas his second defeat in eight decisions.

Hamia, Bassey Will Fight For Feather Title

PARIS (INS)—Cherif Hamia of France and Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria will fight a 13-round open-air battle for the vacated featherweight championship sometime this summer in Paris.

The two fighters agreed to that last night in Paris although exact date for the bout must await the arrival in the French capital of Philippe Filippi, Hamia's manager, who now is in Italy.

The date for the fight is expected to be June 19.

The title became vacant when champion Sandy Saddler retired. Bassey won the right to meet Hamia, the top contender, by beating Miguel Berrios in an elimination bout.

Olson Will Fight Maxin In July

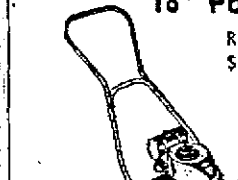

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Former Tommy Moyer today said Moller, Middleweight champion Carl "Babe" Olson, 28, will come out of retirement to meet Joey Maxin, 33, in a 10-round fight here July 12. Moyer said the contract stipulated no particular fighting weights.

It will be Olson's first fight since he was knocked out by Sugar Ray Robinson in May, 1956, in a return bout for the title he lost five months earlier.

John Surash Wins Maplehurst Tourney

With 34 gross points, John Surash won the Point handicap golf tourney at the Maplehurst Country Club in Frostburg yesterday. Twenty-five players participated.

Fred Dean won a special prize for coming closest to the No. 7 pin.

ANSWER: No.

Q. On a line drive to left field, the third and second base umpires give different calls, one saying it was caught by the fielder, the other declaring it was trapped. How is the situation resolved?—Leonard Sullivan.

A. It is the third base umpire's call. He makes it and stands on it unless in difficulty. Then he requests help. Otherwise, the second base umpire has no business giving his call.

Q. With a left-hand batter up, the catcher tries a pick-off at first base. The ball ricochets off the batter's bat and bounces back to the stands. The runner goes to second base. Is this interference?—Bob Rothardt.

A. Not as long as the batter didn't intentionally get in the way of the ball.

QUESTION: With runners on first and second bases and none out, the batter tries to bunt, but exact date for the bout must await the arrival in the French capital of Philippe Filippi, Hamia's manager, who now is in Italy.

The date for the fight is expected to be June 19.

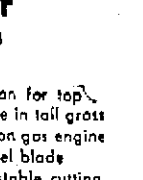

The title became vacant when champion Sandy Saddler retired. Bassey won the right to meet Hamia, the top contender, by beating Miguel Berrios in an elimination bout.

It will be Olson's first fight since he was knocked out by Sugar Ray Robinson in May, 1956, in a return bout for the title he lost five months earlier.

Barbers Must Get Permits

Local barbers must renew their licenses by June 1, according to a notice received here from the State Board of Barber Examiners. After this year, every barber in Maryland will have to renew his license by June 1 or face a possible penalty of up to 30 days in jail, a minimum fine of $10, or both.

David L. Miller, local barber and board member, recalled that the licenses, formerly good for life, were made renewable annually under House Bill 649, passed at the last session of the General Assembly. The bill was introduced by Del. Sickles of Prince Georges County.

The law takes effect June 1, but a three-month grace period for compliance is provided for the first year.

Miller said barbers who have misplaced their license certificates should get in touch with the board at once, so that their licenses can be verified for renewal.

To apply for renewal a barber must write to the Board of Barber Examiners of the State of Maryland, 34 Hopkins Place, Baltimore 1.

The board will send him an application form, which he must fill in, have notarized, and return to the board with $2 and his present license. The board will forward his new license.

West Virginia Solon Asks For Postal Rate Increase

PARKERSBURG (AP) — Postmaster general will be forced to raise postal rates "to bring revenues in line with present operating expenses" were called for Saturday night by Rep. Arch Moore (R-W. Va.).

In a speech for the 31st annual convention of the West Virginia Federation of Post Office Clerks, Moore said:

"Only fourth class, parcel post, is paying its own way. It is high time Congress acted to put all classes on a self-sustaining basis. That users of post office services pay their fair share of the expenses involved rather than shifting the burden to the taxpayer to make up the deficit with their tax dollars."

The 1st District congressman said that after July 1 "we can expect another crisis in the nation's post offices because the postmaster general will be forced to once again curtail mail service in order to stay within the appropriation recently passed by the House and Senate."

Austria To Settle Claims For Seized Oil Properties Of Allies

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Chancellor Julius Raab said today Austria will settle claims of American, British, Canadian and French firms for extensive oil properties in Austria, seized first by the Nazis and then by the Russians.

Raab said in a radio speech Austria would make the settlement mostly by an outright return of this property rather than by compensation in cash.

Austria agreed to the settlement in two "Vienna Memoranda" signed in May 1955, but details were to be worked out in direct talks with the companies.

Raab stressed the settlement now would not mean that "Austria's national property — oil — is turned over to foreign hands."

He said drilling for oil in the most productive areas of east Austria — at Zistersdorf and Matzen — would be exclusively carried out by the Austrian government-controlled "Mineralöelverwaltungs A. G."

Raab denied there was an "oil war" between Austria and the western companies — as claimed by the Vienna Communist press — because Austria failed to meet the deadline of January 1957 for compensation of the French firms and April 1957 for meeting U. S., British and Canadian claims.

"I can assure you," said Raab, "that the Austrian national property — oil — for which we fought for 10 years will not be frivolously turned over to foreign hands. After meeting all our obligations under the 'Vienna Memoranda,' the Austrian oil economy will be more strengthened and financially better secured than before."

Austrian production has been given an opportunity — in cooperation with the Austrian company — to drill for oil on other than the eastern areas. Western and Austrian companies would share in the profits when and if new oil is found.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 5 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

SENSATIONAL NEW DOZER WITH "POWER-ANGLING"
BLADE

MODEL 1000-100 HP
MODEL 800-80 HP

DOUBLE DOZER OUTPUT on grading, backfilling and windrowing jobs

You've wanted it for years...now here it is...a powerful, higher-speed anglegrader that angles hydraulically right from the driver's seat. Enables operator to maintain blade in proper position for peak efficiency on all jobs...without wasting valuable working time on every blade-change.

New 80 and 100 HP Case-TerraTrac dozers also give you the extra advantages of power-booster torque-converter drive, plus a new patent-applied-for counter-rotating, power-shift transmission that permits fast 360° power-turns within the track length of the machine. By changing blade angle "on-the-go", operator can thus keep pushing dirt in same horizontal direction on each pass, instead of backing-up empty. Or, he can peel off part of a pile...sweep it into the trench...and "counter-rotate" back into pile within 3 seconds. See these and other advanced features of the new Case-TerraTrac power-angling dozers now at your Case Industrial Dealer's listed below.

First Trick Loses Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West opened the deuce of clubs against the four-heart contract. Dummy played low and East won the trick with the king. South played the six of clubs. If East had shifted to a trump South would probably have wrapped up the contract. He would have run off seven trump tricks and East and West might easily have gone wrong in their discarding.

East happened to be too smart for that. He shot the club right back. South had to win with his queen but now when he ran the seven trump tricks East and West had no trouble with their discards. East dropped his low club at his first chance whereupon West was able to throw his two clubs away also. Eventually South lost two diamonds and a spade in addition to the club that he lost at trick one.

South had really chuckled the contract at trick one. He should

A—Bid six diamonds. You partner may be starting a belated try for seven but it does not change your hand any. You were never interested in more than six once he bid two no-trump on the second round.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You hold the same hand and respond one heart to your partner's opening diamond bid. His rebid is three clubs. What do you do?

Wild Ducks Prove Very Smart Creatures

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Residents on the East Hartford block here are about convinced that ducks are smarter than people. During duck season, not one was sighted. But now that the season has ended, 72 are enjoying a pond within 50 feet of the nearest house. The ducks ignore the curious who come right up to the water's edge.

Soviet Union Releases Heretofore Secret Statistical Information

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst
The Soviet government is now publishing official statistics at a rapid rate—making available previously secret information on the Soviet economy.

This began less than a year ago when the Kremlin authorized the release for public sale of a volume called "The Economy of the U.S.S.R." It contained 262 pages of tables of facts and figures.

This was a landmark because it was the first more or less comprehensive Soviet statistical yearbook in 20 years. It revealed some of Stalin's most carefully kept secrets for instance the fact that World War II cost the U.S.S.R. a net loss of over 20 million persons.

Another handbook entitled "The Economy of the U.S.S.R." has just come off the press. It is not yet available in this country. The same is true of another volume consisting of 370 pages called "The Economy of the Russian Republic and American statesmen a much more complete and accurate picture of the strengths and weaknesses of the Soviet economy.

There still remain considerable areas of Soviet statistics which are secret—for instance defense industry, the size and composition of the armed forces, and detailed data on standards of living and agriculture.
